Abstract:

The body of your abstract begins here. It should be an explicit summary of your presentation that states the problem, the methods, and the major results and conclusions. Do not include scientific or engineering symbols, acronyms, numbers, or lists inside the abstract. It should be single-spaced in 12 pt Calibri. Authors are invited to submit abstracts of up to 2 pages (approximately 300 words). Important figures may also be included. Extended abstracts must be original works by the authors, not be currently under review in the same form by another outlet and not submitted elsewhere prior to the notification date.

The guidelines are written in the format required for the abstract of the paper for International Conference on Mountain Development in a Context of Global Change with Special Focus on the Himalayas (April 21-26, 2018, Kathmandu, Nepal). We advise you to download the guidelines as a Microsoft Word document and use it as the template for your abstract because it contains the necessary formats and styles.
